

“Dedication, soul, passion;
the spirit of a family embodied in wine”

Colección 880 Roble 2013

A young spirit with great character.

The 880 Collection is a prominent member of a new family of Ribera del Duero wines. Its name was inspired by the altitude of the vineyards where they were born, where man's efforts converge with the earth's demands, to give back to its village and its people the pride of enjoying a great wine.

“Tinto Roble” (Oak Red) boasts a youthful, open spirit, which allows it to fuse together the appeal of its fruit and the virtues of the wood with every year that passes, to develop into a young spirit with great character.

2103 Vintage.

It might be said that 2013 marked the return to normality of the climate in the Burgos region of Ribera del Duero – at least around the Esgueva, which is where this wine originates from.

It was a continental year with very intense seasons, good spring rainfalls that filled the soil with water reserves and an absence of the feared spring frosts, so characteristic of the area. Temperatures oscillated between 8° below zero in winter and 38° in summer. Day-night temperature variations were very good during summer.

By and large the harvest was clean and healthy, without any trace of diseases. Starting on 8 October, picking was manual and the grapes were packed into 15 kg crates with an average yield of 3,200 kg/ha.

Once harvested, the grapes were refrigerated until vinification time. Alcoholic as well as malolactic fermentation followed in tanks at a controlled temperature. After the malolactic process had been concluded, the wine was kept in American and French oak until bottling.

A wine with a medium-high robe and a lively, brilliant appearance, it is expressive in the nose, ripe red fruits predominating over a spicy backdrop with gentle balsamic hints. It is generous and enveloping on the palate, leaving a very fresh, pleasant tannin sensation.
